DATE: June 24, 2013

Name	Conference	Location	Date	Days	Substitute Cost	Fund Source	Total Cost (including cost for substitute)
Pamela Kuntzman	Seeing Stars – reading Intervention Seeing Stars is a research based intensive reading intervention and this workshop will include the CORE steps of “Seeing Stars” program.	Harrisburg, PA	4/30/13	1	100.00	L	563.55

Patricia Smiley	Finding the Keys to Your Financial Success A major part of the curriculum for the Finite Math Course is the Keys to Financial Success, a course designed to teach personal finance to high school students using active and collaborative learning. Each summer, the Delaware Council for Economic Education and the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia offer a week-long teacher-training program taught by the authors of the course's teacher's manual, for teachers beginning to use the Keys to Financial Success model. This training program, which is free of charge to schools committed to offering a Keys to Financial Success course at least once per school year, is an invaluable professional development experience that ensures that new Keys teachers are well prepared to begin teaching the course the following September. Since I will be teaching Finite Math for the first time in the 13-14 academic year. I registered for the Keys to Financial Success Course. The course is free, but my commute to Philadelphia is long, about three hours round trip, so I will be staying in Philadelphia for the week of the course.	Philadelphia, PA	6/24-28/13	5	0.00	L	1213.79
